CONDITIONS OF EMPLOYMENT:

Applicants must be U.S. citizens or lawful permanent residents seeking U.S. citizenship. In order to be compensated with appropriated funds for a position within the continental United States, applicants must be:

- (1) U.S. citizen,
- (2) Lawful permanent resident (i.e., green card holder) who is seeking citizenship as outlined in 8 U.S.C. § 1324b(a)(3)(B).

POSITION OVERVIEW: This position is located within the Southern District of New York U.S. Probation Office. By statute, U.S. Probation Officers serve in a judiciary law enforcement position and assist in the administration of justice and promote community safety, gather information, supervise people under supervision, interact with collateral agencies, prepare reports, conduct investigations, and present recommendations to the Court. U.S. Probation Officers conduct investigations, provide sentencing recommendations to the Court and supervise people under supervision.

REPRESENTATIVE DUTIES:

Investigative Duties: The U.S. Probation Officer will conduct investigations and prepare reports for the Court with recommendations for sentencing of individuals convicted of federal offenses. The incumbent will analyze any objections and determine an appropriate course of action following the disclosure of the pre-sentence report to the parties, present the pre-sentence report and sentencing recommendations to the Court, and respond to judicial officer's request for information and advice. The U.S. Probation Officer will testify in court as needed, as the basis for factual findings and guideline applications. The incumbent will serve as a resource to the Court to facilitate proper imposition of sentence. The incumbent will conduct home inspections and other community-based field contacts.

Supervision Duties: The U.S. Probation Officer will supervise people under supervision to maximize adherence to imposed conditions, reduce risk to the community, and to provide correctional treatment. The incumbent will develop and implement supervision plans and maintain personal contact with people under supervision. The incumbent will investigate employment, sources of income, lifestyle and associates to assess risk and compliance.

Through assessment and counseling, the incumbent will be responsible for detection of substance use and implementation of the necessary treatment or violation

Note: Some noncitizen applicants who are permanent residents may not yet be eligible to apply for citizenship at the time they begin. Such individuals may still lawfully be employed if they provide an affidavit indicating that they intend to apply for citizenship when they become eligible to do so.

The U.S. Probation Office reserves the right to modify the conditions of this job announcement, or to withdraw the job announcement, which action may occur without prior written notice or other notice.

This office reserves the right to test and/or interview only those applicants who have demonstrated that they possess these preferred qualifications.

proceedings of people under supervision. The U.S. Probation Officer will refer people under supervision to outside agencies, such as medical and drug treatment facilities, employment, and training sources; as well as initiate contact, reply and seek information from organizations and persons (i.e., U.S. Parole Commission, Bureau of Prisons, and attorneys) concerning people under supervision, appropriate alternatives and sanctions. The incumbent will report violations of the conditions of supervision to the appropriate authorities; prepare written reports on these violation matters and make recommendations for disposition. The incumbent will testify at court or parole hearings, preliminary interviews, and other investigations, as required. The U.S. Probation Officer will maintain a detailed written record of case activity and will spend a percentage of time each week conducting community-based contact with people under supervision.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS:

All probation officer positions require completion of a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university in a field of academic study, such as criminal justice, criminology, psychology, sociology, human relations, or business or public administration, which provides evidence of the capacity to understand and apply the legal requirements and human relations skills involved in the position.

In addition to meeting education requirements, candidates must possess the following required experience:

- To qualify at the CL-27 level, the successful candidate must possess two years of specialized experience or completion of a master's degree in a field of study closely related to the position, or a Juris Doctor (JD) degree.
- To qualify at the CL-28 level, the successful candidate must possess two years of specialized experience.

*Specialized experience is progressively responsible experience, gained after completion of a bachelor's degree, in such fields as probation, pretrial services, parole, corrections, criminal investigations, or work in substance abuse/addiction treatment, public administration, human relations, social work, psychology, or mental health. Experience as a police officer, custodial, or security officer, other than any criminal investigative experience, is not creditable. Additionally, volunteer or unpaid internship experience is not considered creditable.

First-time appointees to positions covered under the law enforcement officer retirement provisions must not have reached their 37th birthday at the time of appointment due to the mandatory separation age 57, with 20 years of service. Applicants 37 or over who have previous law enforcement experience under the Civil Service Retirement System or the Federal Employees Retirement System and who have either a subsequent break in service or intervening service in a non-law enforcement officer position may have their previous law enforcement experience subtracted from their age to determine whether they meet the maximum age requirement.

ENVIRONMENTAL DEMANDS, BACKGROUND INVESTIGATIONS, AND MEDICAL STANDARDS:

The duties of probation officers require the investigation and management of alleged criminal individuals or convicted individuals who present physical danger to officers and to the public. In the supervision, treatment, and control of these individuals, these duties require moderate to arduous physical exercise, including prolonged periods of walking and standing, physical dexterity and coordination necessary to operate a firearm, and use of self-defense tactics. On a daily basis, officers face unusual mental and physical stress because they are subject to danger and possible harm during frequent and direct contact with individuals who are suspected or convicted of committing Federal offenses.

First time appointees to the position of U.S. Probation Officer must undergo an extensive government background investigation. Further, prior to appointment, the selectee considered for this position will undergo a medical examination and drug screening to determine fitness-for-duty. Upon successful completion of the medical examination and drug screening, the selectee may then be appointed provisionally, pending a favorable suitability determination by the Court. In addition, as conditions of employment, incumbent will be subject to ongoing random drug screening, updated background investigations every five years, and as deemed necessary by management for reasonable cause, may be subject to subsequent fitness-for-duty evaluations.

First time appointees will be required to participate in a six-week National Training Academy in Charleston, South Carolina.
